To enable our systems to recognize your browser or device and to provide and improve BAR Services, we use cookies and other identifiers. We only use cookies and similar tools (collectively "cookies") to provide services to you, including authenticating you, preserving your settings and delivering content.

Does BAR Share Your Personal Information?

Information about our customers is an important part of our business, and we are not in the business of selling our customers' personal information to others. We share customers' personal information only as described below and with subsidiaries BAR controls that are subject to this Privacy Notice.

- Business Transfers. As we continue to develop our business, we might sell or buy other businesses or services. In such transactions, customer information generally is one of the transferred business assets but remains subject to the promises made in any pre-existing Privacy Notice (unless, of course, the customer consents otherwise). Also, in the unlikely event that BAR or substantially all of its assets are acquired, customer information will of course be one of the transferred assets.
- Protection of BAR and Others. We disclose account and other personal information when we believe disclosing is appropriate to comply with the law; protect the rights, property, or safety of BAR, our users, or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organizations for fraud protection and credit risk reduction.

Other than as set out above, you will receive notice when personal information about you might be shared with third parties, and you will have an opportunity to choose not to share the information.

How Secure Is Information About Me?

- We design our systems with your security and privacy in mind.
- We work to protect the security of your personal information during transmission by using encryption protocols and software.
- We follow the Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard (PCI DSS) when handling credit card data.
- We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards in connection with the collection, storage, and disclosure of personal customer information. Our security procedures mean that we may occasionally request proof of identity before we disclose personal information to you.
- It is important for you to protect against unauthorized access to your password and to your computers, devices, and applications. Be sure to sign off when finished using a shared computer.

What About Advertising?

- Third-Party Advertisers and Links to Other Websites. BAR Services may include third-party advertising and links to other websites and apps. Third-party advertising partners may collect information about you when you interact with their content, advertising, and services. BAR cannot guarantee that third-party advertisers websites/links are as secure as our systems. BAR does not screen Third-Party Advertisers that may appear near, or around our product links.
- Use of Third-Party Advertising Services. We do not provide ad companies with any information that allows them to adjust their advertising to you, nor measure their effectiveness. We never share your name or other information that directly identifies you. Instead, we use an advertising identifier like a cookie or other device identifier. For example, if you have already downloaded one of our apps, we will share your advertising identifier and data about that event so that you will not be served an ad to download the app again.

What Information Can I Access?

You can access your information, including your name, address, payment options, profile information, membership, household settings, and purchase history in the Your Account section of the seller website through whom the product or service was acquired, as applicable.
